

CORRECT STYLES IN WOMEN'S SHOES

WHEN we say "correct" we mean the season's accepted styles made by the best manufacturers in the country. At the same time, while style is most important we never sacrifice comfort. In fact, hardly a day passes that some customer does not come in and tell us how much comfort and satisfaction her shoes are giving. Our stock of women's shoes is beyond question the most complete and carefully selected offered in El Paso. Prices are less than were ever before asked in El Paso for the grade shoes we are selling. As an example of value, we mention

HIGH SCHOOL AND ARMY WILL MEET

To Play Practice Game at Washington Park;
Semi-Pro Talk.

At Washington park tomorrow afternoon the high school and the Army will meet in a ball game which will be a practice affair for both. It is the intention of managers of the high school to hold a series of these midweek practice games. The high school has yet to meet Mesilla Park in the third and deciding game of their series and, if it wins, the high school will claim the scholastic championship of the southwest. It has been the local military institute and has had a standing challenge for any other high school in its territory. Many of the bugs are picking the Army team to win the championship of the city league and the practice games will help to put that club in form, which they were not Sunday. They were, however, as well off as the Globe Mills, the team which defeated them. The Millers had not been to either once during the present season up to the time that they met the Army Sunday, and quite naturally they were ill-fated over their optimistic start. With the practice which they will get the Millers are probably the best liked team in the city league so far as an underdog on the ultimate residence of the pennant is concerned. The Army meets the Internationala next Sunday and the White Sox and the Globe Mills clash.

SENATE KILLS KNOCKOUT BLOW TO WOMAN'S VOTE MEASURE.

The State Senate Delivers a Knockout Blow to Woman's Vote Measure.

RECALL BILL IS READY FOR VOTE

Phoenix, Ariz., April 23.—The woman suffrage bill was killed finally in the senate this morning when the Moorehouse bill was indefinitely postponed by a vote of 11 to seven.

The recall of judicial officers may be voted on in a few days. The conference committee has reported it to both the senate and the house and the bill is now in the hands of the enrolling and engrossing committee.

A committee of the house left today to investigate the state asylum for the insane to find if employees work more than eight hours a day. The committee will report it to both the senate and the house and the bill is now in the hands of the enrolling and engrossing committee.

A bill was introduced by Davis, of Maricopa, which provides for an occupation tax for foreign insurance companies. The tax is based on a sliding scale and on the amount of business. Jones, of this county, today introduced a bill to divide Maricopa county by cutting off the eastern part. The new county would be named Orange with Mesa probably the county seat.

Free Meals for Pupils. If a bill now in the house gets through the legislature and is accorded executive approval, Arizona will go just one step beyond any other state in the matter of caring for its school children. This bill was written by J. A. R. Irvine, of this county, and provides that kitchens shall be attached to all public school buildings and that all the students, of whatever grade or condition, shall be supplied with one meal a day free. The measure, however, is not exactly popular with a good many of the legislators and its chances for enactment are not particularly bright.

Another of the most important educational matters is the proposition for the supplying of free text books. The law of Arizona now provides for the supplying of text books to all students not able to provide them themselves, but the proposition is to make all text books free. New Incorporation Law. After long consideration the new incorporation law has passed the senate. This measure follows a constitutional recommendation. It is a fairly well known fact that Arizona's incorporation laws are just a trifle more liberal than those of any other state in the union, and probably more liberal than companies and taken, concerns have originated here than in any other state. Under the proposed measure, strict regulations are thrown around the issuing of charters and it is provided that the business to be engaged in by the corporation shall be clearly stated in the name which it is provided that the plan an Arizona corporation could take any name it chose and then, under the charter, it could engage in any business except banking and the operation of a public service corporation having common carrier privileges.

Some More Recalls. The bill introduced in the senate by H. R. Wood, of Yavapai county, providing for the appointment of a tax commissioner in the event of a vacancy, is popularly known as a "corker." If passed it will add immensely to the prestige of the governor and his cabinet. It is a fat little "job" than any other bill yet presented. It provides that any citizen may protest against the assessment placed on his property. If the protest is filed with the governor the executive shall appoint a commissioner to conduct an investigation and make a report on the merits of the case. Each complaint means an independent commission, so it will be seen the opportunities are quite extensive.

But that is only a small part of it. Not only has a citizen the right to protest against his own assessment, but he may protest against the assessment laid upon any other property, provided that property is located in his territory other than that in which he resides. It has been pointed out that under this measure the governor would in all probability be kept busy to the point of exhaustion. The governor would be required to examine reports, since there is quite a sizable number of citizens who think that their own assessments are too high and who think assessments on the properties of railroads, mining companies, gas companies, street car companies, telephone and telegraph companies, and other corporations, are too low. The bill is now in the hands of committee and its passage is awaited with some degree of curiosity.

To Exhibit at San Diego. The senate today passed finally the bill authorizing the appointment of a commission to arrange for an exhibit at the San Diego exposition. The bill provides for a similar exhibit at the San Francisco exposition is still in committee.

The bill providing for more assistance for the secretary of state passed the senate without division, after it had been amended to reduce some of the proposed demands.

The bill prohibiting blacklisting, which was constructed to meet a constitutional mandate, has been recommended for passage by the senate. This action was taken on the advice of some of the lawyers in the legislature, who say the measure as drawn is unconstitutional.

Notarist Bill. The house notaries bill has passed the senate, despite the fact that the upper branch had a similar measure of its own. The passage of the house bill was a sub to that body, which recently has shown a strong disposition to rescind the action of the senate in rescinding its bills and tacking on senate amendments.

Several new bills have just been introduced. Among these is one regulating the use of paints, another regulating the erection of telegraph and telephone poles, and one affecting the rights of quasi public service corporations in their exercise of the right of eminent domain.

Another late bill introduced in the house is one making abandonment of the state a felony.

Bill Regulating Railway Employment. The bill regulating the hiring of railway engineers and conductors has passed the house. The bill provides that no person shall be employed in these capacities unless he shall have had at least three years' preliminary training.

The bill carrying the Kentucky statute, providing that foreign corporations doing business in Arizona must conduct their litigation in the state rather than the federal courts, has passed the house.

The bill providing for raising the salaries of state penitentiary chaplains and fixing the salary of the superintendent of the industrial school at $2500 a year, have also passed the house.

The house also has the bill making an appropriation for dry farming experiments. Another bill to pass the house is that requiring that all fees received for the incorporation of companies shall be paid into the state treasury.

Annie Survivor

This legislation was made imperative by the fact that all state and county offices are now on a salary basis.

Cary Irrigation Measure. The discussion of the terms of the Cary irrigation act to state lands will come up again in the house. At the last session of the house almost the whole afternoon session was devoted to a consideration of this measure, which, in some respects, is one of the most important before the legislature. The principal objection to the bill is the fear that under its provisions private concerns may be able to effect a large monopoly, but Mr. Drennan and the other advocates of the bill are certain that a contingency is so remote as not to enter seriously into the merits of the questions involved.

The legislature will almost certainly be able to finish all necessary work within the time prescribed by the constitution and be ready to adjourn May 13, as was the opinion expressed today by M. G. Cunniff, president of the senate.

Prize Fight Measure. Prize fights, boxing matches, will be made legal in Arizona if a bill introduced in the senate by Henry Levin, of Mohave county, becomes a law. This bill closely follows the enactment of similar legislation in New Mexico and is designed to get whatever benefits may come from the advertising of athletic combats. Under the Levin bill there can be no finish fights, as the supreme and district judges and having power to remove them for cause, the other providing for the election of county commissioners, who shall have the right to appoint all other county officials.

Other bills introduced by the speaker provide for the completion of the scenic highway from Albuquerque to Las Vegas by way of Santa Fe; by representative Love, providing for the creation of the county of Heard out of eastern Chavez and Eddy counties with county seat at Lovington; an act to prevent the waste of irrigation water; a uniform child labor measure recommended by the New Mexico Bar association; and an act by which the legislature shall require the supreme court to decide all appeals on the substantial rights of parties, regardless of technical errors.

The house passed the Kilmore bill, limiting the number of hours of employment of railroaders to a maximum of 16 out of every 24 hours. The house also voted to appropriate $500 for the Mississippi flood sufferers.

Subscribers failing to get The Herald promptly should call at the office or telephone No. 2030 before 6:30 p. m. All complaints will receive prompt attention.
